

Joining A Group

You Need To Know

When you want to join a group of kids that you don't know well, speak to one person in the group first. Don't talk to the whole group.

Ask the person who looks most friendly if you can sit down or join the group in what they are doing.

What Would You Do?

1. Look at the kids eating lunch in the picture. Who do you think looks most friendly? Write his or her name here_____.

What makes you think this person looks friendly?

---

---

---

2. Who in the group do you think looks least friendly? Write his or her name here_____.

What makes you think this person might be friendly?

---

---

---

3. When you want to sit down with a group of other kids, it is usually a good idea to start a conversation with a question. Think of three questions that you would ask the person you think is most friendly in this group.

---

---

---

4. Is there a group of kids you know that you would like to join? Maybe it's a group of kids who sit together at lunch, or a group of kids that play together at recess. Write down the name of the friendliest person in the group here_____. Write down a question you might ask that person to start a conversation.

---

What to Do Next

After you start a conversation with someone in the group, then you can say ,
"Can I sit down" or "Can I join you?"